

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

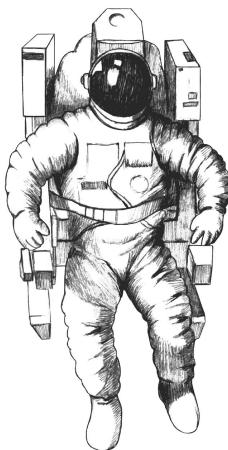

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's find out about Chris Hadfield!

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about unlikely events or fairly certain conditions that will be fulfilled in the present, past or future in spoken or written texts and in work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about people's personalities, love and marriage.
- I can express uncertainty about past events.
- I can describe a situation or an action that is temporary or near the present.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever heard of Chris Hadfield? What do you know about him?
- If you had the opportunity to travel to space, would you?

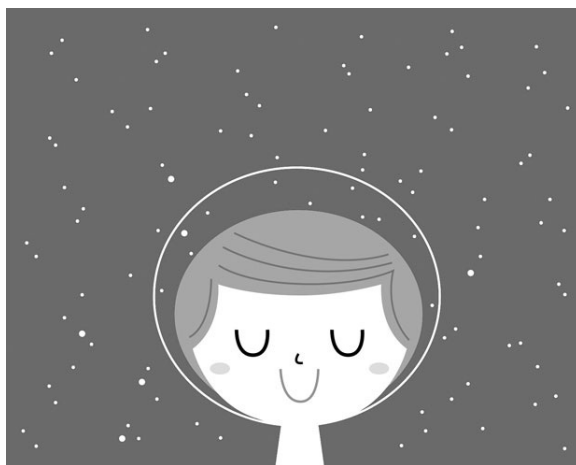

Let's Explore!

ASpace Oddity *.

* "Space Oddity" is a popular song by David Bowie.

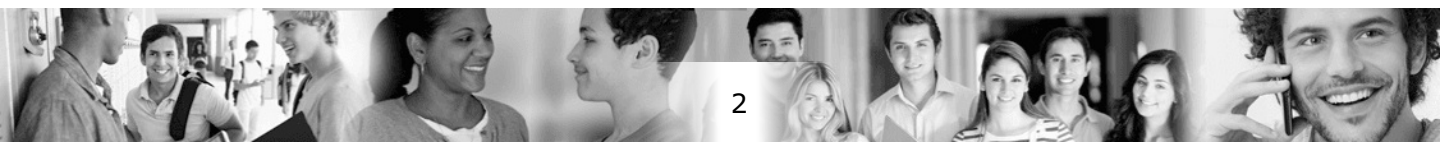

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

On the surface, Chris Hadfield may look like your run-of-the-mill astronaut. He has all of the personality traits typically associated with this demanding profession. He's inquisitive, analytical, resourceful and bright. Those who have been around him for any extended period of time, however, will have noticed that his talents don't end there. He's got a few more tricks up his sleeve.

Chris Hadfield was born on a farm in Southern Ontario. As a child, he says that he may have been influenced by the Apollo 11 moon landing, which he watched with awe. Throughout his formative years, Hadfield dedicated himself to his rigorous education. Along the way, he picked up two other interests: music and photography. He may not have realized it at the time, but these two hobbies would prove essential to his later success. Without them, he wouldn't have become an international sensation.

In 2013, Chris Hadfield was named commander of the International Space Station. While in space, he gained popularity by taking pictures of the earth and posting them to social media websites such as Twitter and Tumblr. He also recorded a version of David Bowie's Space Oddity, which generated over 25 million views on YouTube.

He couldn't have imagined that his antics would have caused such a global sensation, but he is loving his post-mission celebrity. He likes traveling around the planet, signing books and giving public lectures. He is constantly attracting aspiring astronauts with his enthusiasm. At first he was taken aback by all of the attention, but now he is looking more and more comfortable as a global ambassador for space exploration. He also jokingly explains how his view from space has put a strain on his relationship. "I think it annoys my wife," he says. "When we're driving, I know what's around the next corner, even though we've never been there before."

Let's Practice!

Chris Hadfield was a commander!

Instructions: Match the sentence halves on the left with their missing parts on the right. Read the complete sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

COLUMN A

1. Those who have been around him for any extended period of time, however,
2. He says that he may have been
3. He may not have realized it at the time, but
4. Without them, he wouldn't have
5. He couldn't have imagined

COLUMN B

- a. will have noticed that his talents don't end there.
- b. become an international sensation.
- c. that his antics would have caused such a global sensation.
- d. these two hobbies would prove essential to his later success.
- e. influenced by the Apollo 11 moon landing.

Let's Practice!

Chris Hadfield's wife is annoyed!

Instructions: Complete the text below by choosing from the options that you are given. Read the complete sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

resourceful / inquisitive / analytical / bright / taken aback / jokingly / traits / strain / tricks up his sleeve

1. He has all of the personality _____ typically associated with this demanding profession.
2. He's _____, _____, _____, and _____.
3. He's got a few more _____.
4. At first he was _____ by all of the attention.
5. He also _____ explains how his view from space has put a _____ on his relationship.

Extension Activity

Analyze a David Bowie song.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go online and listen to Space Oddity by David Bowie.
- Print or copy the lyrics of the song.
- Highlight at least five words you don't know in the lyrics.
- Write out the definition for each unknown word.
- Listen to the song again and follow along with the lyrics.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I copy the lyrics from a song about space.

☐☐

I identify difficult vocabulary.

☐☐

I write out definitions for unknown words.

☐☐

Target Words

- trait (noun): a distinguishing quality or characteristic e.g. He has all of the personality traits typically associated with this demanding profession.
- run-of-the-mill (adjective): ordinary e.g. Chris Hadfield may look like your run-of-the-mill astronaut.
- bright (adjective): intelligent
e.g. He's inquisitive, analytical, resourceful and bright.
- resourceful (adjective): having the ability to find quick and clever ways to overcome difficulties
e.g. He's inquisitive, analytical, resourceful and bright.
- awe (noun): the feeling of respect mixed with fear or wonder e.g. He says that he may have been influenced by the Apollo 11 moon landing, which he watched with awe.
- formative (adjective): serving to form something, especially having a profound and lasting influence on a person's development e.g. Throughout his formative years, Hadfield dedicated himself to his rigorous education.
- strain (noun): a high amount of pressure on someone or something e.g. He also jokingly explains how his view from space has put a strain on his relationship.

Learning Points

Perfect Modals

You use Perfect modals to refer to different possibilities in the past, present and future.

Subject	Modal Verb	Past Participle
The movie	will have	started	by now.
You	may have	seen	the film.
Jason and Mary	would have	been	late.

We use a Perfect modal to:

1. refer to a point in time in the past.

We were worried someone might have picked up our bag by mistake at the airport.

2. refer back from the present.

It is nearly eight o'clock. Their plane won't have landed yet.

3. refer back from the future.

I won't start dinner until she gets here. She might not have eaten yet.

4. refer to past time.

You should have called back when you got in. We were worried.

Examples:

- Those who have been around him for any extended period of time, however, will have noticed that his talents don't end there.
- As a child, he says that he may have been influenced by the Apollo 11 moon landing.
- He may not have realized it at the time, but these two hobbies would prove essential to his later success.
- Without them, he wouldn't have become an international sensation.

Learning Points

State Verbs

State Verbs are verbs that talk about a state rather than an action.

You can use the Present Continuous tense with some state verbs to emphasize that an action is only temporary. It is only happening for a short time around now.

You can use the verbs attract, like, look, love and sound in this way.

Compare these two sentences:

Grandma comes to visit a lot. The kids love having her here.

Grandma comes to visit a lot. The kids are loving having her here.

Some verbs have different a meaning when you use them to describe states and when you use them to describe actions. When you use them to describe states, you use them in the Present Simple form.

When you use them in the Present Continuous, they take on an action meaning.

Compare:

This app doesn't appear to work on my phone. (appear = seem - a STATE)

Billy Joe is appearing in a musical next month. (appear = take part - an ACTION)

Examples:

- He is loving his post-mission celebrity.
- He likes traveling around the planet, signing books and giving public lectures.
- He is constantly attracting aspiring astronauts with his enthusiasm.
- Now he is looking more and more comfortable as a global ambassador for space exploration.

