

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

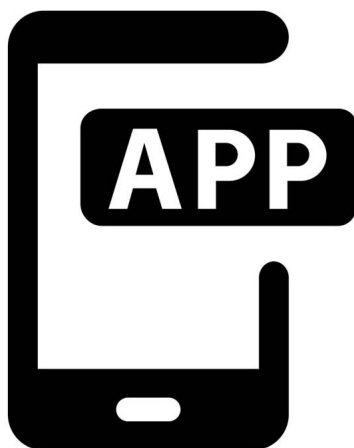

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's hear about this new dating gadget!

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about unlikely events or fairly certain conditions that will be fulfilled in the present, past or future in spoken or written texts and in work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about technology, love and marriage.
- I can express uncertainty about past events.
- I can talk about two actions together.

Ask your partner:

- What are the three apps on your phone that you use the most?
- Are there any apps that you use to help you learn English? Which ones?

Let's Explore!

A new gadget for finding love?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Many modern singles admit to being bashful when it comes to meeting people of the opposite sex. They confess to having very little time in their busy schedules to meet someone new. With so many obstacles on the path to true love, few would object to using technology in order to help them find a mate. A company in Japan must have noticed this developing trend. That is why they have developed a new electronic device that helps single men and women meet.

This handy new love gadget must have been designed with utility in mind, as it is small enough to be carried around in your pocket or used as a key chain. The device contains a little computer and a radar sensor. For it to work, you simply punch in your likes and dislikes. If a potential match is in range, your love gadget picks up its signals. If this person has similar interests to the ones you've programmed in, both of your devices will begin to beep. Now all you have to do is find the person who is beeping and voilà! The match is made!

This new love gadget must have hit the mark on more than one occasion, as many satisfied customers have left testimonials on the company website. Isabella, an office assistant in a big robotics company, met her current boyfriend by using the mini matchmaker. "I was quietly sitting in a café with a couple of girlfriends when suddenly my gadget started beeping like crazy," said Isabella. "I looked up and saw the most gorgeous guy sitting three feet away, holding up his love gadget and smiling at me! I couldn't believe it! My face must have turned beet red." Isabella says that without the love gadget she would never have approached this stranger. "I would never just go up to a guy and start talking," Isabella said, "but this way it seemed just right. I knew this guy liked the things I liked and that he was interested in meeting me." The couple's looking forward to getting married this June.

Let's Practice!

What a great little device!

Instructions: Complete the text below by choosing from the options that you are given. Read the complete text aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1 robust robot robotics logistic	2 matches matcher watchmaker matchmaker	3 sensory. sense. sensor. sensation.	4 pull in punch in put out push up	5 ranch range grange ranger	6 sleep bleed beep breed
---	--	---	---	--	---

Isabella, an office assistant in a big 1 _____ company, met her current boyfriend by using the mini 2 _____. The device contains a little computer and a radar 3 _____. For it to work, you simply 4 _____ your likes and dislikes. If a potential match is in 5 _____, your love gadget picks up its signals. If this person has similar interests to the ones you've programmed in, both of your devices will begin to 6 _____.

Let's Practice!

A romantic must have thought up this idea!

Instructions: Complete the sentences by choosing from the options that you are given. Read the complete text aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

must have been designed / mustn't have been done / must have noticed / must have hit / must have approached / must have turned / must have take.

1. A company in Japan _____ this developing trend.
2. This handy new love gadget _____ with utility in mind.
3. This new love gadget _____ the mark on more than one occasion.
4. My face _____ beet red.
5. The stranger _____ Laura first because his gadget started beeping before hers did.

Extension Activity

Design an app.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Think of an app that might make life easier.
- Come up with a name for your app.
- Write a short description of your app, including how it works and who will use it.
- Present your idea to a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I come up with ideas for a new app.

☐ ☐

I write a description of what my app will do.

☐ ☐

I write a description of my target audience.

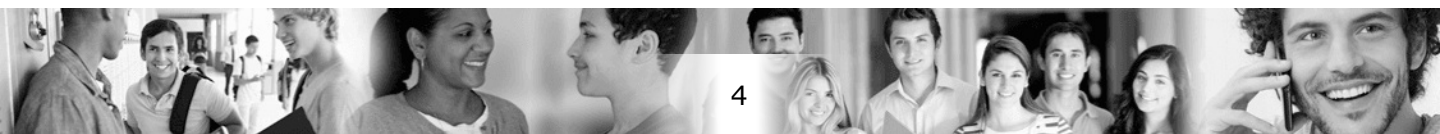

☐ ☐

I share my ideas with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- bashful (adjective): shy
e.g. Many modern singles admit to being bashful.
- obstacle (noun): a thing that blocks one's way, preventing or hindering progress
e.g. With so many obstacles on the path to true love, few would object to using technology.
- mate (noun): romantic partner
e.g. Few would object to using technology in order to help them find a mate.
- gadget (noun): a small mechanical device
e.g. This handy new love gadget must have been designed with utility in mind.
- utility (noun): the state of being useful, profitable, or beneficial
e.g. This handy new love gadget must have been designed with utility in mind.
- radar (noun): a system for detecting objects, speed or movement e.g. The device contains a little computer and a radar sensor.
- to beep (verb): to make a short high-pitched sound
e.g. Both of your devices will begin to beep.
- matchmaker (noun): a person who introduces possible romantic partners
e.g. Isabella, an office assistant in a big robotics company, met her current boyfriend by using the mini matchmaker.
- beet red (noun): extremely red e.g. My face must have turned beet red.

Learning Points

Perfect Modals: Must Have

You use perfect modals to talk about certainty or uncertainty about past events.

You use the structure must have + past participle to express the fact that you are 99% sure that something happened in the past. You are almost sure it happened.

Look at an example of how to use this Perfect modal:

Bianca: Jim was terribly sick yesterday. When I called him, he didn't pick up.

Heidi: He must have fallen asleep.

Here, Heidi is making a logical conclusion about the past.

Examples:

- A company in Japan must have noticed this developing trend.
- This handy new love gadget must have been designed with utility in mind.
- This new love gadget must have hit the mark on more than one occasion, as many satisfied customers have left testimonials on the company website.
- My face must have turned beet red.

Learning Points

Clauses Using -ing: To + -ing

You can use the structure to + -ing after certain verbs. In this case, to acts as a preposition.

You can use these verbs with this structure: adapt, confess, object, admit, adjust, look forward, own up, and resort.

He admitted to taking the last cookie.

I'm looking forward to seeing you later.

They confessed to stealing the money.

These verbs can also be followed by to + noun phrase.

For example:

They confessed to the crime.

I'm looking forward to the meeting.

Examples:

- Many modern singles admit to being bashful when it comes to meeting people of the opposite sex.
- They confess to having very little time in their busy schedules to meet someone new.
- With so many obstacles on the path to true love, few would object to using technology in order to help them find a mate.
- The couple's looking forward to getting married this June.

